From the
SENIOR BENCH

THE little girl next door wears a broomstick in her hat, and we think it's a feather. She's like that. It seems to us that that verse is a better example of personality than any definition Elinor Glyn has coined. Try applying it to the girl you know, and see if you don't agree. If we have heard correctly, it is the personality girl of the State University campus that the Hi-Jinx committee plans to find, to introduce to the audience the night of the show's performance. Five candidates will be chosen in the next few days. A popularity contest in which the entire student body can participate is something new on this campus. The Junior Prom queen is selected by the senior men. The May Fete queen is chosen by the women. But the winner of the Hi-Jinx contest will be the choice of the campus as a whole. Quite a broomstick for some little girl's cap, we'd say.

THE Foresters have a new Cat. It is a big yellow brute, with a purr like an airplane motor. It strolls down the alley, behind the Little Theater and the A.S.U.M. store, leaving incredible claw-marks in the dirt road. It is a tame and thoroughly domesticated animal, and the Foresters have trained it to do several clever tricks. At present, it is engaged in clawing up the field north of the library.

THERE is a shelf in the Library which may get blamed for a good many yellow slips, if— It is so directly in front of the good-intentioned student that few can pass it easily, and fewer willingly. Into the line of visions pops the title, "Nero." Beside "Nero," a book offers to tell you what was "In the Beginning." Near "Black Magic" the "Rivet in Grandfather's Neck" calls for attention. "Lorenzo the Magnificent," "Kit Carson" and "John Henry" flaunt their enticing characters before your wavering will. "Life's Enthusiasms" reminds you that your immediate enthusiasm should be that history assignment. "Far Away and Long Ago" sounds historical enough to be a substitution, and you finally succumb to "Listen to the Mocking-Bird." Why doesn't someone offer credits for browsing?

COLLEGIANA came out yesterday. We haven't had time to read it yet, so we won't mention its contents. But we would like to suggest to any and all would-be writers on this campus that a student publication of this nature is an excellent place to air your views, and very good practice for your literary abilities. Nearly everyone thinks he can write. It is our opinion (although we have been argued nearly out of it a couple of times) that anyone can write, with practice and an incentive. Collegiana attempts to maintain a definite literary so that acceptance of work should afford the practicing writers encouragement. Anything short of a novel would be considered for publication, providing you let the editors know you've written it.

NOW is the time for all loyal partisans to come to the aid of their candidates. Bets of cash and comedy are being placed on the entrants in the races. The most peculiar thing about an election is the amount of excitement people can work up if anyone maligns their favorite candidate. The casual onlooker is almost a missing character this last week before things get settled. We have already heard of some people who have placed freak bets on the election. And one of them is the man who bet us cash money on his favorite.

"Miss Montana" Will Be Chosen At Annual Show

Interfraternity Council Will Help Hi-Jinx Committee Select Most Popular Co-Ed

At a meeting of Interfraternity Council held at the Kappa Sigma house Wednesday night, it was decided to co-operate with the Hi-Jinx committee in nominating girls to run in a popularity contest to determine a "Miss University of Montana."

Each fraternity and the Independents are to nominate five girls at a meeting Monday evening. Out of this total number five girls having the most nominations are to run in the finals. With each advance ticket bought for Hi-Jinx, a ballot will be given and the voter will be requested to turn in his vote on the Thursday prior to the Hi-Jinx show.

The picture of the winning girl will be sent to newspapers throughout the state and also to College Humor where she will be given a place in the magazine's Hall of Fame.

Five committees were also appointed as follows: Constitution committee: Marion McCarty, Wilkinsburg, Pa., chairman; William Veeder and Newell Gough, Missoula. Social committee: William Dixon, Missoula, chairman; Robert Somerville, Livingston; Orin Cure, Missoula. Finance committee: Bob White, chairman; Oscar Limpus, Winifred; Herman Dickel, Garrison. Banquet committee: Charles Gaughan, Missoula, chairman; Leland Story, Winnet; George Bovington, Missoula. Pep committee: Robert Leslie, Great Falls, chairman; William Wade, Helena; Howard Gullickson, Missoula. Kenneth Woodward, Los Angeles, Cal., is chairman of the Pin committee.

In order to further cut expenses, a move was suggested by the council to use the men's and women's gymnasiums for their future dances.

After the regular meeting, the store managers discussed co-operative buying. By this method three members of the council will go to the different stores in Missoula where they will present their proposition. The store granting the lowest buying cost and carrying the best grade of goods will receive the patronage of all the nine fraternities. Such articles of necessity that are purchased by large amounts, such as potatoes, sugar, coal, etc., will be priced by the committee.

Prof. E. E. Bennett Reviews Book on Populist Movement

A review of the "Populist Revolt" by Prof. John Hicks, was given Wednesday afternoon by Prof. E. E. Bennett of the Department of History, at Colloquium meeting in the Natural Science hall.

Professor Bennett, in the review, traced the development of the Populist party from its beginning to the present time and brought out the factors it has contributed to present day politics. Preceding the meeting the usual social half-hour was held and refreshments were served. A short discussion of the review followed the main feature of the meeting.

Frances Smith, Virginia Hancock and Hope Mathews were dinner guests Wednesday night at the Delta Delta house.

Aid Is Given Needy By State University

Missoula Citizens May Obtain Wood From School Property

Permits to cut free winter fuel from the forest property of the School of Forestry in Pattee canyon, near here, are being issued daily from the office of the forestry school. To date, 95 such permits have been issued.

Prof. Fay G. Clark, who is in charge of the plan, announced that each family will, upon obtaining a permit, be allowed five cords of green and dead wood for their personal use. The wood to be cut will be taken from the north side of the road in the school's forest. Should this area be exhausted, it may be enlarged. Officers stationed at the second fork of the road will designate the wood to be taken and will check trucks in and out of the area.

As there is not sufficient dry wood to meet the expected demand, each permittee must take a certain amount of green fir and pine. No wood may be cut or hauled earlier than 8 o'clock and all cutters and their trucks must be out of the timber by 5 o'clock in the afternoon. All brush and litter resulting from cutting must be piled and burned as directed by the officer in charge.

The project has a two-fold purpose: to clear the Pattee canyon reserve with the minimum of expense to the School of Forestry and to aid needy residents without any cost to taxpayers or organized charity.

Dixon Wins Triangular Competition

Hoover and Thomas With 49 Votes Each, Tie in Straw Ballot; Roosevelt Is Third

William Dixon, speaking in support of Norman Thomas, won the vote of the audience attending the triangular political debate held in Main hall last evening. James Likes and Howard Gullickson, speaking for the Republican and Democratic candidates, respectively, were the other speakers. Darrell Parker, debate coach, presided at the meeting.

Hoover and Thomas tied in the straw vote held in the audience, following the debates. Each received 49 votes. Roosevelt secured 41 votes.

Each speaker presented the platform of his party for 15 minutes. For 10 minutes, the other two speakers cross-questioned him. After all the speakers had finished arguing, each was permitted a 10-minute summary of his points. Then an open forum was held, into which the audience entered with enthusiastic and occasionally embarrassing questions.

K. D. Swan, aerial photographer for the United States forest service, will lead this week's party of Montana Mountaineers to Miller peak Sunday, starting from Coleman's drug store at 8:45 o'clock.

A schedule of five trips was outlined at an executive committee meeting of the Mountaineers called by Pres. Craig Smith Tuesday afternoon. The following program was arranged by the committee: November 6, Miller peak, 7,000 feet, southeast of Missoula; K. D. Swan, leader. November 13, Bass Creek canyon in the Bitter Root range beyond Florence; Dr. C. B. Spohr, leader. November 20, Black Mountain, 5,900 feet, west of Missoula; Clifford Walker, leader. November 26 and 27, Como Lake in the Bitter Root mountains above Darby; Richard H. Smith, leader. This trip will include short hikes and possibly an overnight stay in a chalet. December 4, Finley lakes in the Rattlesnake range; Hazel Swearingen, leader.

Because of unfavorable weather, the Mountaineers cancelled the trip to Mt. Stuart last Sunday.

Relief Work Progresses In Widespread Cleanup Campaign at University

Work Is Backed By Reconstruction Finance Corporation; Three Crews, Totalling 89 Men, Are Working on Campus, Forestry Nursery and Golf Course

Eighty-nine men are working on different parts of the campus in a widespread cleanup program. The employment of these men was made possible by a loan to Missoula county by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, $5,400 of which was allocated to the State University.

Relief Group Plans Bureau For Students

Survey of Employment Conditions Will Aid Undergraduates; Dixon to Have Charge

"While the committee for student relief is now only temporary, it hopes to build up into a permanent bureau for student employment," stated John Houston, speaking of the student employment program which is being mapped out by the committee in charge.

The committee appointed by Central Board, consisting of John Houston, chairman, and Harvey Thirloway, will work in conjunction with William Dixon of the Department of Sociology. Immediately after the elections, Dixon is to conduct a survey on the campus to ascertain part-time work which will be available for students during the next two quarters.

"The hope of this committee," Houston continued, "is to make plans to establish an employment bureau whereby people who need students for part-time work will be able to secure them through the bureau, which will specialize in this work. In this way, not only students who are best qualified but also students who need the work will be given it. Applications of these students who will need work in order to stay in school for the next two quarters will be taken at the A.S.U.M. office after the end of next week. Students will be required to fill out a form giving required information."

Sophomore Receives Injuries in Accident

Unavoidable Collision Damages Car; Other Occupants Are Not Hurt

Edward Jeffrey, a sophomore, escaped injury Wednesday when the car he was driving was hit by a Buick as the two cars started to pass by Craig hall. The Buick was driven by Harry Greenquist, a resident of Missoula.

Jeffrey had just started to turn in the driveway behind Craig hall when the Buick, in trying to pass, hit him headlong. Bill Clarke, a sophomore, who was riding on the fender of Jeffrey's car, was hurt more than the other occupants. He received a broken toe and a bad cut over his eye. Phil Pollard and Monty Smith also were with Jeffrey in the car but were only shaken up. Jeffrey's car, a model "T" Ford, was badly damaged while the Buick merely dented a front fender.

Oregon Professor Speaks at Dinner

"The separation of religion from learning is a real calamity," said Philip A. Parsons at a dinner given in his honor in Corbin hall last night. Dean Parsons is a faculty member of the University of Oregon and is president of the Pacific Region of the American Conference on Higher Education and Religion.

Dr. C. H. Clapp, president of the State University, introduced Prof. R. L. Housman of the School of Journalism, Braxill Fitzgerald of the Department of English, and Rev. F. L. Gilson, all of whom gave brief talks. Dean Parsons gave a talk on the survey he is making of the status of religion on the campuses west of the Rocky mountains.

Leo Valton and Grant Raitt were Wednesday dinner guests at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house.

Governor Erickson Approves The application for relief has been approved by Governor Erickson and the official representative of the R. F. C. Relief work is in progress on several projects in Missoula and the outlying districts of the county.

The county commissioners have appointed a committee, designated as the Missoula County Emergency Relief committee, to work out the necessary details for action. It consists of W. C. Lubrecht, chairman; Rutledge Parker, secretary; T. C. Spaulding, W. H. McLeod, E. S. Holmes, N. J. Lennes, and R. W. Angerine, chairman of county commissioners.

Swearingen Directs

The men working on the campus are divided into three crews. Fifteen are at the golf course, 44 are working on the campus, under the direction of T. G. Swearingen, maintenance engineer, and 30 are at the School of Forestry nursery, under Prof. I. W. Cook.

The men on the campus have built a road from John street to the heating plant and a rock retaining wall behind the new tennis courts. The rocks and debris north of the Natural Science building have been removed as have those in the lot north of the Library. This lot will be used for intramural athletics and as a practice playground for the gymnasium classes. The dump ground near the nursery will be planted with trees and improved. The dead trees about the campus have been cut down and sawed into fuel to be used in the residence halls.

Grader and Tractor Used

The School of Forestry tractor and a county grader are being used in the work. The men at the golf course are engaged in raking and smoothing the fairways. The road from the women's gymnasium to the Forestry building, the Elrod bird sanctuary and the vacant property near the campus are to be cleaned and improved.

This relief work is intended primarily for those who have been permanent residents of this county and who are unable to secure employment. No persons possessing resources of their own are eligible for relief, and the committee is empowered only to go as far as finances will permit in relieving the most urgent cases of distress. This work is entirely voluntary on the part of the committee members and their sole aim will be to secure the greatest degree of relief possible from the resources at their command.

The crew of men will be changed from time to time, so that unemployed men in the county will be able to earn enough to keep themselves and their families comfortable through the winter.

A. A. U. W. WILL ASSIST LIBRARIES IN MONTANA As project work for the coming year, the American Association of University Women held a conference with Philip O. Keeney, State University librarian, in regard to inaugurating a program of helping the libraries of the state.

The purpose of the project is to help the libraries by supporting them and giving books to the State Extension Library housed in connection with the State University library.

Mrs. William Jellison of Hamilton, a graduate with the class of 1930, was a visitor at the Kappa Delta house Wednesday evening.

With the annual organization Tuesday of Kappa Tau, we are reminded that it would not be amiss to explain, in a general way, the aims and purpose of that group. To most students, the freshmen in particular, Kappa Tau is nothing more than a name denoting one more group on what is perhaps already an over-organized campus. Some know, in a vague way, that it has to do with scholarship—there are many more who, were one to ask them, probably would give to Kappa Tau many new and interesting descriptions.

Kappa Tau is a local honorary scholarship fraternity. It was organized at Montana in 1916, in an effort to honor, in some way, outstanding scholars on the campus. Although its purpose is somewhat akin to that of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic fraternity, it has no connection with that body whatever. In former years, there was talk of the granting of a charter of the national group to the local organization, and although the national secretary of Phi Beta reported favorably on Kappa Tau when he visited here in 1927, no charter was granted.

Membership in Kappa Tau is limited to approximately one per cent of the student body and includes students who have attained better than a B average in their first three years. Juniors possessing the qualifications are given consideration and each year approximately twenty are tapped.

That oft-discussed "bugaboo" of universities and colleges, the fraternity system, is once again in the limelight, this time in Rita Halle's story of non-fraternity tragedies, "Empty Lapels." College Humor's publication of Miss Halle's article gives food for thought to even the most hard-boiled supporters of the system. "Empty Lapels" is more or less a plea to the supporters of the Greeks to find some way of making their organizations less hurtful to those outside them. While her criticisms do not seem to apply very closely to the system on this campus, there are undoubtedly some students here who have had that horrifying feeling of being rushed and then dropped, or of not having been rushed at all.

"Year after year," to quote Miss Halle, "in every university in the country that permits fraternities, more fine, sensitive boys and girls than the myopic outsider would ever suspect, are pitifully hurt by the fraternity system." This is so because many first-year students come from communities where everyone seems to be a brother or a sister, and where they have been prominent in all of their preparatory school events. Perhaps the reason they are not noticed when they go away to school is because they themselves allow their virtues to be hidden by a shyness of which they are unaware. Others are rushed and then dropped because their legacy may not be quite as good as that of someone who is going to help out the brothers financially. All unknowingly the rushee may have made some little break that brings forth a "ding" from one of the fraternity group.

The biggest jolt to the barbarian comes when his fraternity friends fail to be friendly with him. One fault of all fraternities, and sororities as well, is that they instill in their pledges the idea of dating out with fraternities and sororities that "rate." Life-long friendships have been broken up by the system, nervous breakdowns have often resulted, and in many cases withdrawal from school has eventually been the result.

While Miss Halle's story may not seem to mean so much to us here, we should not forget that such things do and have happened here. Almost unknowingly, some fraternity may change the whole course of the life of some freshman by submitting him to a non-fraternity tragedy.

No one has been on the campus any length of time without having heard some student complain of the many "fees" which he finds are being unjustly forced (as he thinks) upon him. Standing forth in all the trappings of injured innocence, he is apt to beguile his listener into forgetfulness of the old truth that almost all questions have two sides. For instance, if his grievance concerns the two most commonly berated fees, that for late registration and that for dropping a course after the period of provisional registration, he is involved in a proposition affected by three factors. These are the administration, the student with logical reasons back of his actions and the careless person who was the cause of the trouble.

The administration is acting in self defense against the party of the third part who, in their eyes, is an inefficient, undecided individual with a penchant for being tardy or absent or who merely thought that one course might be more pleasant than another after the period of provisional registration was past. The much discussed "fees" are not fees at all but fines calculated to make the student think twice before registering late or dropping a course. The one person with just reason for complaint is usually in the tiny minority. It is inevitable that occasionally circumstance makes tardiness or the use of a drop-card the only way out and in such cases the fine is undeserved. On the whole, however, the greater smoothness with which affairs are conducted is the overshadowing feature of the system.

COLLEGIATE CARRIAGE

Pseudo E. Blah and Beverly Blatz, of collidge chums, were humming down Higgins avenue in high gear and free-wheeling when this tin-type was snapped. That's one of the reasons Pseudo was able to flunk out of so many different schools. He always had a carriage; when interviewed concerning this one he said there wasn't a ride in a tank full of gas in the old buggy. It had floating power but the power had all floated away long before he ever bought the darn thing. But what we're trying to broadcast is that Pseudo favors riding. He will support 100 per cent "A car for every college student." If you favor riding on moonlight nights; riding up to school in a cozy sedan on a nippy morn to make an 8 o'clock; riding home from a buggy ride, instead of walking, and driving over to the Butte game instead of going by the special, then a vote for Blah is a synchro-mesh move in the right direction. What this country needs is Pseudo E. Blah, our collegiate candidate for prexy of the good ol' U. S. A. Let's free-wheel with Pseudo into office. O. K.?

"It's not the woman who pays and pays—it's the taxpayer. Cut out taxing luxuries and tax a few necessities such as mother-in-laws and class officers. Taxation without representation is O. K. with me if I get my split—otherwise it's out; I oppose it one hundred per cent," said Pseudo E. Blah when interviewed yesterday.

Here's another thing. Pseudo doesn't plan on being president for four years. Pseudo will hold office only long enough to accumulate enough to retire and start his college education over again. This will allow some other sucker to take his place and cut down on unemployment in this country by one person. Once in school, Pseudo

Cubs Will Seek Revenge In Ancient Grudge Battle Against Kittens Tomorrow

Grizzly Will Be Out to Avenge Grizzly Defeat By Bobcats Earlier in Season; Both Teams Have Won Six Games in the Past

Tomorrow afternoon the Cub football team encounters the State college frosh in the thirteenth annual encounter between the two squads. This game, in every sense of the word, will be a grudge battle, each team having won six games in the past. The Cubs will be out to avenge the Grizzly defeat at the State college game.

The Kittens are reputed to be very strong as indicated by their decisive victory over Billings Poly a short time ago. They have a big line and, like the Bobcats, have a light, fast, tricky backfield. The Cubs so far this year have had no regular games. Wednesday night they had a scrimmage with the Missoula high school team and although no score was kept, they looked very impressive with Blastic, Kent and Cox carrying the brunt of the offense.

The engagement was featured by a 90-yard dash for a touchdown by Blastic, Cub back, on the opening kickoff. The Chicago speedster received the ball on his own goal line and, shaking off several tacklers, cut to the sidelines, where, aided by fine interference, he raced to a touchdown. On defensive play, Sullivan and Hanel showed promise of future varsity stardom.

It is expected that the Cub starting lineup will include those members of the yearling squad who have been scrimmaging against the varsity for the past few weeks, with all of Coach Lewandowski's proteges expecting to see action.

The game will be played on Dornblaser field tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Holders of season tickets will be admitted free, as will students in presentation of their A. S. U. M. tickets and 25 cents.

Graduate Receives Infantry Position

Lovless, '25, Is Promoted to Rank of First Lieutenant

Word has been received by Maj. G. L. Smith that Jay B. Lovless of the class of '25, recently was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant in the United States Infantry. He is now stationed at Vancouver barracks in Washington. In 1924 and 1925 he was Cadet Major in the Grizzly battalion, member of the Grizzly and Blade, national honorary military fraternity, and Sigma Nu, national social fraternity. He received his second-lieutenancy commission in the army on June 30, 1926. He was first stationed at Fort George Wright, Spokane, Wash., and later he was transferred to the Hawaiian Islands. From there he went to his present location at Vancouver barracks.

He married Margaret Orr, formerly of Dillon, who was also a member of the class of '25. Mrs. Lovless was a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

Southern California and California will put on the big show of the week in the Coast conference. Southern California is a slight favorite but the Golden Bears are not counted out by a long way.

Coach Ingram of the Bears thinks he has an even bet to win after the strong showing of his reserves against Nevada last week. And the Bears have to get along without Mohler, one of the best players in the country.

Few teams could stand the loss of the great Trojan quarterback but the Trojans, with Homer Griffith calling the signals, still rule as favorites.

The U. C. L. A. Bruins, the only team which has a chance to tie the Trojans for the championship, are resting up this Saturday for their game with St. Marys on Armistice day.

Stanford, after two hard-fought defeats, engages Washington; Idaho meets Washington State, and Oregon tangles with Oregon State in other conference games. Stanford, Washington State and Oregon are picked to win.

Utah, perennial champions of the Rocky Mountain conference, are working over the forthcoming game with the Colorado Aggies. Many observers believe that the Redskins are heading for a fall this season with Denver university standing in the way of their seventh consecutive title.

Six teams were lopped off the undefeated and untied list last Saturday with more sure to fall this week. Twenty teams are still in the running for a perfect season.

Sectional leaders to date are: East—Colgate and Pittsburgh, with Brown, Columbia, Penn and Holy Cross all undefeated. Big Ten—Michigan, with Purdue close behind. Pacific Coast—Southern California and U. C. L. A. South—Tennessee, Auburn, Virginia Poly and Louisiana State. Southwest—Texas and Texas Christian. Big Six—Nebraska and Oklahoma. Rocky Mountain—Utah and Denver. Missouri Valley—Oklahoma.

A. and M. But take a look after tomorrow's games have been played.

Another of the big games of the day is the Pittsburgh-Pennsylvania set-to in which Penn is due to be removed from the undefeated class.

Brown university, after victories over Yale and Harvard, is being touted as eastern champion and a possible entry in the annual Rose Bowl game. But with Holy Cross, Columbia and Colgate left on her schedule, things do not look too rosy for her.

Bowling and basketball may be included in the interfraternity sports schedule this year. One thing that may cause the elimination of the latter is the fear of dissension and the revival of hard feelings that caused the abolition of this form of athletics a few years ago.

Cross-Blending

WHAT IS IT..and how does it improve cigarette taste?

YOU'VE heard how fruit of one variety has been crossed with fruit of another to produce a new and more pleasing flavor. The loganberry, for example, is a cross between the raspberry and the blackberry.

Chesterfield's Cross-Blend gets the same result—better taste—by a different method.

It welds together the different kinds of several varieties of tobacco. Many types of Bright tobacco, a great many types of Burley tobacco, and numerous grades of Turkish tobacco are all merged into one—Chesterfield tobacco.

This welding or Cross-Blending goes beyond ordinary blending or mixing tobaccos together. It actually makes every kind of tobacco in Chesterfield partake of the qualities of every other type.

It's the Cross-Blending of fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos that gives Chesterfields a distinctive, better taste.

They are milder. They have a flavor and aroma which, we believe, you will like.

Collegiana

Collegiana, campus publication designed for the embryo literati, appeared yesterday. With the same vivid red cover (which as usual is totally out of keeping with the conservative contents) and mimeographed pages, it shows no marked change from last year's twice-a-quarter magazine.

Says Editor Lake in his opening editorial: "If the casual observer should remark that Collegiana, with grimly realistic sketches, hard-boiled political analyses, and fantastic poems, had gone modern, would he be far from wrong?"

Editor Richard Lake has devoted, either wisely or unwisely, the greater part of this issue to politics. Howard Gullickson comes to the aid of his party and presents the Democratic side. John Houston, in the best article of the series, lauds the Socialist party in a way that may influence some student readers. Last in the series, James Likes enthusiastically boosts the Grand Old Party.

The Collegiana straw vote reveals no startling change in student opinion. This poll by organized groups is interesting, with only two fraternities, one sorority, and the Law School showing a majority for Roosevelt, and with Thomas garnering a large vote. Frank Camborn, in a pleasant sketch entitled "Dance Hall," shows evidence of having devoted much care to his work. Betty Foot has contributed one of two poems, Editor Lake the other. The editorial board unites in an appeal for student welfare.

This two-hundred-and-fifty circulation magazine deserves greater student interest—more readers and more contributors.—G. B. V.

Scholastic Group Elects Officers At First Meeting

Eugene Sunderlin Is New President Of Kappa Tau; Straw Vote Is Also Taken

Eugene Sunderlin, Spokane, Wash., was elected president of Kappa Tau at the first meeting of the school year held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Main hall. Other officers are Edward Alexander, Whitehall, vice-president, and Fae Logan, Deer Lodge, secretary-treasurer. Twenty-three members were present.

Mrs. Jesse Camborn Treichler spoke on the history and purpose of the organization.

A committee consisting of Rubin Lewon, Glasgow, chairman; Alice Taylor, Missoula, and Emma Bravo, Sand Coulee, was appointed to determine the policy of the group toward Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic fraternity, following the introduction of a system by the national organization of granting new chapters directly rather than accepting new groups by petition.

Harold Fitzgerald, ex-president, was last year granted the Rhodes' scholarship from this district and is now starting his first year at Oxford.

Votes cast for Hoover, in a presidential straw vote taken at the meeting, nearly equaled those for the other two candidates. Of the 23 votes cast, Hoover received 11, Thomas 7 and Roosevelt 5.

STUDENT GETS APPOINTMENT

Sophomore Honorary Groups Formulate Plans for Dance

Plans for the annual Spur-Bear Paw dance, which is scheduled for November 12, were discussed at a joint meeting of the two organizations held Thursday afternoon in Main hall. Final arrangements will be announced next week.

This is the first year the dance has been held during the fall quarter. Since the winter quarter is a short one, and there are many other all-school dances, it was thought best to have the Spur-Bear Paw dance earlier in the year.

Marion Lewellyn will spend the week-end at her home in Plains.
